

Intimacy & Sexual Wellbeing Clinic

Our Clinical & Consulting Psychologists provide up-to date research-based strategies for enhancing intimacy & sexual wellbeing

Sexual functioning is a private area of our lives but concerns are very common, and can affect our general level of happiness and connection in our relationships. General health, emotional wellbeing, life stage, and surgery/medical treatments can be associated with a range of concerns including:

- Lack of desire or changes in desire or arousal
- Menopausal changes
- Erection problems / premature ejaculation
- Managing urological functioning / continence
- Pain / discomfort
- Other impacts from cancer or chronic health conditions

Our confidential and respectful service provides sexual rehabilitation techniques, information, support, and targeted strategies. Treatments may involve collaboration with your GP or specialist (eg. urologist, gynaecologist, or physiotherapist), to achieve the best possible outcomes. Medicare rebates are available for eligible patients.
